

Round the World - Daniela & David

Welcome to our travel-homepage!!! On this site we present information, images, reports,... of our round the world trip from December 2006 until November 2007.

We are sorry, but the main language of this homepage is German because we are too lazy to write all the articles in two languages and many friends and family members are expecting our stories in German.

The aim of the English version is to provide pictures and the information about our current location also to non German-speaking people we are going to meet on our trip. But maybe there will come English stories as well - let's see.
